Information Collected

In general, you can visit this Web Site ("site") without telling us who you are or revealing any information about yourself. Our Web Server collects the domain name, not the e-mail addresses, of visitors. Our Web Server may seek to place a "cookie" (small data file) on your computer's hard drive which allows the server to determine the computer when it visits again, or to track statistical information about navigation to and through certain areas of our site. This cookie is not used to obtain your name or any personal data, and the information that is tracked is used only for internal purposes. However, if you prefer not to accept cookies, you can set your browser to reject them or to alert you before one is placed.

In addition, there are parts of this site where we may need to collect personal information from you for a specific purpose, such as to provide you with certain information you request. The information collected from you may include your name, address, telephone, fax number, e-mail address, etc. If you do not provide all the information needed by us, we may not be able to give you the information you request. We do not knowingly solicit or collect personal information from or about children, and we do not knowingly market our products or services to children.

Use of Collected Information

Domain name information that we collect is not used to personally identify you and instead is aggregated to measure the number of visits, average time spent on the site, pages viewed, etc. We use this information to measure the use of our site and to improve the content of our site. When other information is collected from you, such as your name and e-mail address, we generally let you know at the time of the collection how we will use the personal information. Usually, we use the personal information you provide only to respond to your inquiry or to process your request (such as to receive information, services, or inquiry about employment). We do not share, sell, or lease personal information about you to any third-parties for their marketing use. We will release information about you if you direct us to do so, if we are required by law to do so, or other legally limited circumstances.
